NEW and EXCITING Endodontic Experience!

Bridging the Gap Between the Knowing and Doing in Endodontics

This course was designed to bridge the knowing and doing gap in Endodontics! This newly developed “LOCAL” curriculum will help clinicians implement the most advanced technologies into their practices. We look forward to your participation during this upcoming LIVE PATIENT demonstration and HANDS-ON experience. This course will focus on the “Practitioners Ability to Develop Essential Skills and Comfort Level which guide treatment options, case acceptance, and predictable clinical results”.

Objectives:

- Participants will be able to recognize and communicate their treatment limitations
- Participants will be able to describe proper ergonomics, operatory efficiency and flow following the live demonstration
- Peer mentorship: One-on-one training with those who know and use the latest products and techniques showcased during a live patient experience
- Hands-on, interactive training with product experts
- “Ask an Expert” session: Bring your questions and get the answers needed to increase your skills and productivity
- Learn how to successfully navigate the “business end” of patient treatment from Root to Crown

Featured Speakers:

Jay M. Goldberg, DDS

Dr. Goldberg has been in full-time private endodontic practice since 1985. He was named Top Dentist in Endodontics in 2010, 2012, 2014, 2016 and 2017 by Philadelphia Magazine and is an Assistant Clinical Professor at Temple University.

Ameir Eltom, DDS

Dr. Eltom received his certificate of endodontics from the University of Pennsylvania in 2012. He is currently in private practice and maintains a part-time faculty position in the Endodontics department at UPENN.
